CHOOSE LIFE – Pregnancy Hot Line (909) 398-4838
 “This is the paradox of America’s unborn. No life is so desperately sought after, so hungrily desired, so carefully nurtured. And yet no life is so legally unprotected, and so frequently destroyed.” New York Times columnist Ross Douthat’s reflection on infertility and unwanted pregnancy, 1/3/11.

40 DAYS FOR LIFE - SEPT. 23rd - NOV. 1st
 40 Days for Life begins on September 23rd. Our local campaign is outside the Planned Parenthood at 1550 North Garey Ave. in Pomona, CA from 7:00 AM to 7:00 PM from September 23rd to November 1st. Please sign up for vigil hours at www.40daysforlife.com/pomona. You can call Mary Markowski at 951-312-9963 with any questions or to sign up for hours if you don't have internet access.
 For 40 straight days and 40 nights, local volunteers, families and church groups keep a peaceful and prayerful vigil outside a local abortion center. The results have been nothing short of amazing: 10,331 babies saved from abortion since 2007, 118 abortion workers converted, 60 abortion facilities shut down, 650,000+ pro-life Americans praying and fasting for an end to abortion and 17,500 church congregations standing up for life!
 The number of abortions are reduced by up to 75% on the days people are standing outside praying and counseling at abortion centers. May God bless you for your participation!

ROSARY AND ALTAR SOCIETY
 The Rosary and Altar Society is in need of four new women members. If you can volunteer one hour a month please call the Parish Office.

Turn Your Attention to God

You ask how you can succeed in raising your mind directly to God, without turning to the right or to the left. This question contains its own answer: you must do as you say--go straight to God, without looking to the right or to the left. That is not, however what you ask, I see very well, but rather what you must do in order to fix your mind so steadfastly in God that nothing can weaken its hold or withdraw it from Him. For this two things are necessary: to die to be saved, for after that, there will be no more separation and your spirit will be indissolubly attached and attached to its God.

But what can you do to prevent the smallest distraction from withdrawing your mind from God but sin; and our resolutions, made each morning, to keep our soul united to God and attentive to His presence, keeps us always there, even when we were sleeping, since we sleep in the name of God and according to His most holy will. (It even seems as if His divine Goodness said to us, "Sleep and rest; meanwhile I will watch over you to guard and defend you from the 'roaring lion that goeth about seeking whom he may devour.'" Have we not, then, good reason to lie down to rest modestly?)

The means of doing well all that we do is to be very attentive to the presence of God, for no one would offend Him if he remembered that God is watching him. Venial sins are unable to turn us aside from the path that leads to God. They will doubtless delay our progress a little, but they will not turn us aside, still less will simple distractions, and this I have said in the introduction.

As regards prayer, it is not less profitable to us or less pleasing to God when it is full of distractions; nay, it will perhaps be more useful to us than if we had much consolation in it, because there will be more labor--provided however, that we are faithful in withdrawing from these distractions, and in refraining from dwelling upon them voluntarily.

It is the same with regard to the difficulty that we experience throughout the day in dwelling upon the thought of God and of heavenly things--provided that we are careful to restrain our minds as far as possible from running after these flitting butterflies, as a mother restrains her child. If she sees the poor little one longing to run off after the butterflies hoping to catch them, she holds him back and says, "My child, you will only exhaust yourself by running after these butterflies in the sun; you had much better stand with me." The child stays with her, indeed, until he sees another, after which he would be as eager to run as ever if his mother did not hold him back in the same way.

What then, can we do except have patience and not weary of our labors, since they are undertaken for the love of God.

---St. Francis de Sale

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,
 Today I am saddened and disappointed that a bill legalizing assisted suicide has been signed into law by Governor Brown. We believe that the time of our passing from earthly life is to be determined by God, who calls us to cherish and protect all life, from conception to natural death. For this reason, and because we fear the potential impact of this law on vulnerable populations, our Church vocally opposed it. It is now a matter of public policy but it does not change our moral convictions. We will work earnestly to proclaim our belief in the dignity of all human life. Let us pray for one another and let us continue to speak out whenever and wherever the dignity of human life is threatened.

In Christ, Most Reverend Gerald R. Barnes 10/5/2015

"Pope Francis has warned us about our 'throw away culture.' Have we become so callous in protecting the sacredness of life that we easily approve of a physician handing over a lethal dose of drugs to someone to end their life at their most vulnerable moment when they most need to be cared for with love and attention?"
