FIFTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
July 10th, 2016

Dress at Mass

A small pamphlet lists a golf course’s dress code clearly. On the course: “Men must wear shirts with a collar or turtleneck shirts. All shirts must be tucked in. All hats must be worn with the beak forward and outdoors only.” In the country club dining room: “Jacket and tie are required for gentlemen aged 17 and over at all times. Ladies must wear a dress, skirt or slacks.” And no matter where you are, “Jeans, denim and sweat clothes are not tolerated anywhere on the property.” Does this seem harsh? Do we look down on the country club’s rules? Do we worry about the need for the members and their guests to be comfortable whether on the course or sitting at a table? Should the clubs owner just be happy that people are coming? Probably not.

Can you imagine what would happen if we printed a similar card with guidelines of how to dress for Mass on Sunday? What if ushers enforced this “dress code” as diligently as the country club enforces their rules for dress? What sort of letters would we receive at the parish office? How many telephone calls would the Bishop’s office receive? What happened to our desire to dress up when it comes to Sunday Mass? Why is it that the only times we will dress a little nicer when going to church is for a baptism, a wedding or a funeral? Sadly, it seems that the reasons people find to dress up on the Lord’s Day have more to do with where we are going after Mass than our attendance at Mass itself.

On the surface, it has no effect whether the congregation is dressed in togas, tunics, or tank tops; Christ still becomes truly present in the Eucharistic species by the words and action of the priest. This is equally true in other circumstances as well. A couple will be validly married by a priest or deacon whether we attend the wedding in a tuxedo or a bathing suit. A baby will be validly baptized whether we attend the baptism in a dress or in pajamas. In short, we do not wear the clothes to make the miracle happen; we wear the clothes to salute the honored guest(s); to show we care about them and that they mean something very special to us. So the million-dollar question must then be asked: “At a Mass, who is the guest we come to honor?” It is none other than Jesus Christ. If we will dress up to honor ordinary people receiving the Sacraments, then how can we not dress up to honor the author of those Sacraments?

If we are dressing to honor Christ, then we are dressing for Him alone, and not to be seen by others. Naturally not everyone has the same financial means and so “dressing up” becomes a relative term. Quite simply, we should dress in a respectful and perhaps even slightly subdued manner, wearing the best we have for God. Mass should never become a fashion show in which we spend our time looking around and judging the best outfit! Nor should we plan our wardrobe based on what others will think. At its very root, our external demeanor is a personal salute between us and the Lord and no one else should enter that formula.

The Church sees parents as the primary educators of their children in matters of the faith. If children learn that Mass is something we must do to get it over with, where stepping in the door is enough and attendance is measured by possession of a communion Host and a bulletin, then I fear what these children will pass on to their children. But if we begin with ourselves, and create an attitude which teaches children about the worship of God in a way that prepares them for intellectual growth later on, then we will not be the last link in the chain, but a proud link somewhere in the middle.

In the end, the country club’s printed dress code seems absurd. The truth is we should not need any piece of paper to tell us what is appropriate to wear to Mass. Mass is not some foreign thing in a strange place; it is a “family reunion” on our home turf. We know what happens at every Mass and we know how God wants us to spend His day. How we dress should be obvious.

St. Kateri Tekakwitha
 Kateri was born near the town of Auriesville, New York, in the year 1656, the daughter of a Mohawk warrior. She was four years old when her mother died of small-pox. The disease also attacked Kateri and transfigured her face. She was adopted by her two aunts and an uncle.

Kateri converted as a teenager. She was baptized at the age of twenty and incurred the great hostility of her tribe. Although she had to suffer greatly for her faith, she remained firm in it. Kateri went to the new Christian colony of Indians in Canada. Here she lived a life dedicated to prayer, penitential practices and cared for the sick and elderly. Every morning, even in the bitterest winter, she stood before the chapel door until it opened at four and remained there after the last Mass. She was devoted to the Eucharist and to Jesus Crucified. She died on April 7, 1680, at the age of twenty-four. She is known as the "Lily of the Mohawks."
